After listening to this project its hard to believe that Ethan Hughes is only 20 years old. His playaing is that of an accomplished musician far older than that. I really enjoyed his selection of material as well as his bandmates for this project. Each person filled a special niche to complete the total sound. A great many of the high points were mentioned in the liner notes by David Bromberg, but one that wasn't mentioned was the bass solo on the Panhandle Rag by San Sankaran. There are very few bass solos in bluegrass so when one happens they should get their due. This was a totally entertaining project. I'm sure we will hear more from Ethan Hughes in the future.

Thank you for sharing this fine project with us!!
